

[illegible]

5

The method includes providing at least one database comprising a plurality of data models, each of said data models containing a representation of data in a space and time relationship, and being linked to other data models in flexible hierarchical relationships. The method further includes presenting selected data models such that the information can be viewed based on spatial relationships, time relationships, hierarchical relationships, or any combination thereof.

10